

KEYU JIN

keyujin@gmail.com

Academic Position:

Sep 2025: Professor of Finance, Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Jan 2013-August 2024: Associate Professor of Economics (with tenure), London school of Economics

January-May 2015: Visiting Professor at UC Berkeley

September-December 2012: Visiting Professor at Yale University (Cowles fellowship)

September 2009: Lecturer (Assistant Professor) of Economics, London School of Economics

Education:

Ph.D. in Economics, Harvard University, 2009,

M.A, Harvard, 2006

B.A, Harvard College, 2004.

Ph.D. Thesis Title: “Essays on Global Capital Flows, Asset Prices and Portfolio Views of External Adjustment ”

Teaching

Global Macroeconomics (Executive Education program), International Macroeconomics and Finance (PhD program), International Macroeconomics (undergraduate), Advanced Economic Analysis---Macroeconomics (undergraduate)

Books and chapters

The New China Playbook: Beyond Capitalism and Socialism, May 2023, Penguin Random House

Accolades: Selected as one of the FT’s Summer Readings, one of Fortune’s Top 10 Must-Read Books for Board Members.

“The Global Quest to Dominate Strategic Emerging Sectors”, PIIE-IMF Conference Steering Structural Change, September 2024.

“Trans-Sovereign Networks—China’s Role in the new global order”, Bretton Woods 75 Compendium

“China’s Steroid Model of Growth”, Meeting Globalization’s Challenges, Princeton Press.

“International Trade and Capital flows” in Encyclopedia of Financial Globalization

Selected Academic Papers:

Technological Rivalry and Optimal Dynamic Policy in an Open Economy” (with Yan Bai and Dan Lu), September 2025, Journal of Political Economy—Macroeconomics.

“Optimal Trade Policy with International Technology Diffusion” (with Yan Bai, Dan Lu, and Hanxi Wang), January 2025, Journal of International Economics.

“Misallocation under Trade Liberalization” (with Yan Bai and Dan Lu), April 2024, American Economic Review.

“The One-Child Policy and Chinese household savings”, (with Nicolas Coeurdacier and Taha Choukhmane), Jan 2023, Journal of European Economic Association.

The Puzzling Change in the Transmission of U.S. Macroeconomic Policy Shocks (with Ethan Ilzetzki), Jan 2021, Journal of International Economics, accepted.

“International Transmission through Relative Prices” (with Nan Li), American Economic Journal: Macroeconomics, vol 10(4), 2018.

“Credit Constraints and Growth in a Global Economy” (with Nicolas Coeurdacier and Stephane Guibaud), American Economic Review, September 2015.

“Fertility Policies and Social Security Reforms in China” (with Nicolas Coeurdacier and Stephane Guibaud), IMF Economic Review, September 2014.

“Industrial Structure and Capital Flows”, American Economic Review, August 2013.

“Composition and Growth Effects of the Current Account: A Synthesized Portfolio View,” (with Kai Guo), Journal of International Economics, 79(1): 31-41. 2009.

Selected Opeds:

The Financial Times:

“If Washington’s Aim is to Suppress China, it’s all going about in the wrong way”, April 2025,

“Trade War with America is a Strategic Gift for China”, Jan 2019

“China Presses on America’s Pain points in Trade War”, July 2018

“A US Trade War could Propel China to Haste Reforms at Home”, May 2018

“Europe should stop Arguing and Look to China”, June 2012

“The US Tech Industry Needs China”, May 2023, Time Magazine

“China’s Economy is Leaving Behind its Educated Young People”, May 2023, Wall Street Journal

“How China is Fighting the Chip War with America”, October 2022, The New York Times.

Other Papers:

“Navigating geoeconomics in a new era of US–China relationship”. Symposium: The Political Economy of War, Peace, and the Military-Industrial Complex. Review of Keynesian Economics, Vol.3 (12), August 2024.

“China’s Ascent”, Finance and Development, JUNE 2019, VOL. 56, NO. 2

I argue how China’s rise will have far-reaching consequences on the world and what it means for global coordination.

<https://www.imf.org/external/pubs/ft/fandd/2019/06/rise-of-china-jin.htm>

“Trans-sovereign Networks” Bretton Woods@75 Compendium: Revitalizing the Spirit of Bretton Woods: 50 Perspectives on the Future of the Global Economic System.

I argue why building supra-national networks is essential for national and global development and cooperation. In an age of networks, whether it is infrastructure, financial networks, trade linkages and supply chains, large nations need to play a critical role in building and maintaining these networks.

FT coverage:

<https://www.ft.com/content/e82a1f48-a185-11e9-a282-2df48f366f7d>